Notice Regarding the National Foundation for Transplants (NFT)

Thank you for visiting Transplants.org.

We would like to clarify that Transplants.org, Inc. is a new 501(c)(3) tax-exempt nonprofit organization with no current or prior affiliation with the National Foundation for Transplants (NFT), which ceased operations in 2024.

NFT announced all remaining available patient funds for grants had been disbursed as stated in their closure announcement:

"At this time all available funding for grants have been disbursed. If you did not receive an email informing you of a grant award, your request was either incomplete or ineligible for a grant. All funds have been utilized for providing grants to transplant patients and furthering the mission of NFT as it wound down its activities."

Transplants.org does not nor did not have access to or control over any funds raised or held by NFT, nor can we offer updates regarding any past NFT grant processes.

We appreciate your understanding.

Sincerely,
Transplants.org

At this time all available funding for grants have been disbursed. If you did not receive an email from us informing you that a grant has been awarded, this means that your grant request was incomplete or ineligible for a grant. Upon closure, all funds will have been utilized for providing grants to transplant patients and furthering the mission of the National Foundation for Transplants as it winds down its activities.

There will be no ongoing updates on the grant process. We appreciate your understanding.

Fund Allocation/Ownership

No individual donor or patient has a property interest in donations made to NFT. As has been disclosed throughout National Foundation for Transplants materials and fundraising appeals, all contributions made to NFT in support of our patient services are made as unrestricted donations to NFT and not to any specific individual. NFT relies on donations to cover its operations and administration costs and to effectively support transplant patients. As relayed in other communications from NFT, financial strains have significantly impacted the organization. With the significant amount of grants we have given out over the years combined with higher costs of administration and lower fundraising totals, our ability to provide support to the transplant community has been negatively impacted to the point that we can no longer provide financial support.

Can I receive lumpsum dollars donated to the organization through my NFT campaign?

No. All contributions made to National Foundation for Transplants were made to it as a nonprofit entity. Neither you nor any donor has personal ownership or financial accounts with NFT. All contributions were received for NFT's discretionary use to support its mission. In this way, we have been able to help as many transplant patients and their families as we could ever hope to be able. Tax laws and IRS Regulations prevent the earmarking of any donation or gift to NFT to or for the benefit of any specific individual. Gifts previously made in your honor have been utilized for serving transplant patients and community.

Can I still submit a transplant-related reimbursement?

No. As of April 30th, 2024 all grant requests were required to be submitted. If your grant was approved in whole or in part, an email was sent informing you of the award.

The process prior to April 30th, 2024 was as follows; NFT remains committed to offering support throughout this transition period until April 30th, 2024. We urge you to submit a grant request by April 30th, 2024. To be considered for a grant, all documentation must be submitted to memberassist@transplants.org by April 30th, 2024. Find documentation below for submission. If your grant is approved in whole or in part, you can expect to receive it in May 2024. This deadline is crucial for us to efficiently do our best in allocating resources and provide the necessary support. Please note that any grants with missing or incomplete information/documentation, and/or ineligible requests, will not be processed. Grant processing timelines and updates will not be provided during this period.

When/if I choose a new nonprofit will my money be transferred there?

No. Contributions made to the National Foundation for Transplants were unrestricted donations to support its mission and are not individuals' funds. The main reason NFT is in the process of ceasing operations is precisely due to a lack of funds available for any purpose, much less having funds available for distribution to another organization. Funds donated to NFT cannot be redirected to another nonprofit.

How can I receive information about NFT's cease of operations?

Due to the high volume of requests, the most up-to-date and frequent information is available on this document.

What organizations support transplant patients?

We have compiled a list of organizations in our community that offer similar services. You can find this list below. Please take some time to review these options and identify the provider that best meets your needs. Once you have identified a potential alternative, we encourage you to contact them directly. They can provide you with more information about their programs and how they may be able to support you. (Funds donated to NFT including those through campaigns cannot be redirected to another nonprofit).
